

On this page you will find price ranges in USD for various types of bespoke jewelry pieces. These categories are the most commonly requested, and your specific bespoke jewelry request may or may not fall under any one of these categories - if this applies to you, please note that I'm willing to tackle any project that I feel is within my scope of ability, and use this list as a general reference.

Prices at the lower end of the scale will entail a lower design complexity and lower budget materials, such as plated metals, glass beads or affordable gemstones, etc. Complex designs with higher budget materials will fetch the corresponding price. Premium metals and gemstones such as solid karat gold, platinum, moissanite or diamond, will most likely exceed the given price ranges.

Please keep in mind that these price ranges are subject to change, and the price for your specific jewelry request may or may not be higher or lower than any of the given ranges. If you have a specific budget in mind, please include it as a note in your custom request - I will be happy to tailor the design complexity/scale/material choices to stay within your ideal budget with respect to my existing pricing system.
